Availa Bank Welcomes New Loan Officer

Kobe Riherd joins the Webster City team.

Webster City, Iowa (June 12, 2024) – Availa Bank is pleased to announce the hiring of Kobe Riherd as Loan Officer at the Webster City location. Riherd will be responsible for procuring and maintaining commercial and agricultural banking clients at Availa Bank.

Riherd graduated from Aplington Parkersburg in 2020 before attending Iowa State University. He then graduated in 2024 with degrees in Agricultural Business and International Agriculture. Riherd previously worked for NEW Cooperative as an Operations Intern, Meyer Agri-Air as a Chemical Handler, and Bayer as a Production Research Intern throughout his college years.

Outside of work, Riherd enjoys golfing, traveling, kayaking, boating, and cheering on ISU sports. His parents still reside in Parkersburg and both of his younger siblings will be attending Iowa State University in the fall. Riherd is excited for the opportunity to be part of the Webster City community and the Availa Bank team.

Ryan Williams, Webster City Market President, is looking forward to Kobe's contributions to the bank as a Loan Officer.

"I'm excited for Kobe to join Availa Bank as our new officer in training. Kobe has a great foundation through his education at ISU and his ag industry experiences. He was drawn to banking based on his interest in helping others succeed. I'm confident Kobe will be a great addition to the Availa Webster City team," he says.
